PARTITION HORROR REMEMBRANCE DAY

Ladies and gentlemen,

Good evening and thank you for joining us today as we gather to commemorate an important chapter in the history of our nations - Partition Remembrance Day. On this solemn occasion, we reflect upon the events that transpired seventy-six years ago when our great nation, India, underwent a transformation that reshaped the course of history. Today, we gather to pay our respects, remember the sacrifices of our forefathers, and reflect on the lessons that this historic event offers us.

2. The partition of India on 14 August 1947 marked a moment of profound change. It is a day of remembrance, a day to honor the sacrifices made by countless individuals who sought a brighter future for themselves and their loved ones.

3. As we remember this significant milestone, we must acknowledge the pain and hardships endured by those who experienced the partition firsthand. Families were uprooted, lives were torn apart, and communities were forever changed. It is essential that we remember these stories, as they serve as a reminder of the importance of unity, tolerance, and the preservation of peace.

4. As we look ahead, let us draw inspiration from the past to build a future that honors the sacrifices of those who came before us. Let us work towards a world where differences are celebrated, where conflicts are resolved through dialogue, and where our shared values of compassion, respect, and mutual understanding prevail.

5. On this Partition Remembrance Day, let us stand together as a testament to the resilience and strength of our nations. This day will not only inspire us to eliminate the poison of discrimination, animosity and ill-will, but it will also strengthen unity, social harmony and human sensibilities.

Thank you.
